Notes:
1. This Neizman family called themselves "Galician" and they were known as "Galician", but many Lahaina people did not know that "Galician" meant a person from "Galicia", just as "Okinawan" meant a person from Okinawa. Galicians came from the Spanish province of Galicia and they were good fishermen. The Neizman brothers were well known for their skill in catching the opelu. They did not want to be mistaken as being Portuguese.

Information on the layout of this area and its residents during this time period was provided by Mamori Nagao. His help in making this map possible is gratefully acknowledged.

Information on the families living in her immediate neighborhood was provided by Alwine (Hiraoka) Terada. Her help in making this map possible is gratefully acknowledged.

Additional information has been added (May 2015) from records gathered by Lahaina Restoration Foundation and Kaunoa Senior Services from previous residents that attended Lahaina Plantation Days from 2009 to 2014.